Valley Masons Witness French Lodge Ritual

Covina lodge, No. 334, and La Puente lodge, No. 446, F. & A. M., were hosts Tuesday evening to the Valley de France lodge, No. 329, of Los Angeles, who brought out their degree staff and put on the first degree work. A sumptuous dinner was served at 6:30 by La Paloma chapter, O. E. S., attended by 200 members of the Covina and Puente lodges and their guests.

The Valley de France lodge has made one previous visit to Covina. Their coming is always considered an unusual event, as this lodge is unique in clinging to the old rituals. Eugene F. Borely of Puente is master.

Judge Reed's Court in Busy Session Monday

Henry Ames of Baldwin Park, a resident of that community for the past thirty years, was bound over to the superior court Monday morning in Judge Reed's court, to answer to the charge of violating section 288 of the penal code.

Joseph Glenn Moore, an attorney of Los Angeles, and his companion, Alta Wilson, were arrested Saturday afternoon by Officers Barry and An-

Nottingham-Mears Marriage Occurs at Bride's Home

Mr. Harvey Nottingham, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nottingham of Charter Oak, and Miss Mary Ann Mears were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Mears of Baldwin Park, at eleven o'clock Thursday morning, July 14th, Rev. R. W. Gentry, officiating.

A delightful wedding breakfast was served to the guests, members of the immediate families, and the young couple left for a two weeks' vacation in Yosemite and Mammoth lakes.

Both bride and groom were members of the class of '27 of Covina union high school, and were leaders in the student life of the school.

draws, and released on bail. Moore was fined $250 in Judge Reed's court Monday morning for alleged illegal possession of liquor and $15 for violation of the motor vehicle act. Alta Wilson was given a fine of $20 for being drunk and disturbing the peace.

John Hackett of Baldwin Park was arrested Sunday night by Officers Barry and Andrews and fined $50 by Judge Reed on Monday for alleged violation of the Wright act.

McElroy, a colored gentleman, was doing the intersection at Citrus and San Bernardino at 40 miles an hour one day last week, when he was stopped by Officer Barry. The judge imposed a $25 fine for violation of the motor vehicle act.

Radio Hook-Up Will Announce New 1928 Buick

Coming as a surprise announcement, and of significance to thousands of automobile owners throughout the Pacific coast, as well as over the entire nation, a national radio "hook-up" has been arranged by the Buick Motor company, to begin Saturday night at 9 o'clock over Los Angeles radio station KEF. It was announced yesterday by Irven Reynolds, valley distributor of the Buick, that an hour of music by nationally known artists will be a feature of this nation-wide broadcast.

Only a few times in radio history has the whole of the United States and Canada been allowed to listen in on a national program, the outstanding occasions being the inauguration of President Coolidge and the program of welcome for the "lone eagle," Lindbergh. The reason for the universal broadcast is declared by the Buick company to be the fact that the new Buick automobile presents such startling features it merits a general demonstration to prepare the public for introduction of the new models.

While this national program will feature a musical program, all of which will be on a par with the excellence of Pryor's band, the hour of "hook-up" will also include a concise explanation of the improvements which the Buick company will offer the automobile-owning public. The new Buick, according to Mr. Reynolds' statement, is low swung and rakish, with a distinction in style declared to outclass anything this great company has ever before evolved. The upholstery and finish is as fine in workmanship and taste as a fine drawing room, with seats and backs shaped with the best ideas for comfort, and a new color scheme leads a decided improvement in appearance. Contrasting colors are used, the seats taking a different and blending shade from that of the side walls and head lining. The material is a fine quality of mohair plush, with short and durable, close-woven nap. There are harmonious Duo colors, emphasizing the stylish low contour of the cars, with heavy wheel on radiator, lamps and trim.

The Buick color set. One of the pleasing features on the new sedan is the elimination of the vertical moulding at either side of the rear body panel. All Buick models for 1928 are wider and roomier, and all present new roof lines, making for stylish appearance. All have clear vision fronts, achieved by narrowing the windshield side pillars and the horizontal top bar. Buick is showing the world the way to new riding comfort in its new models, Mr. Reynolds said. Hydraulic shock absorbers in conjunction with the new and more flexible cantilever springs, smooth the roughest roads. Four hydraulic shock absorbers are standard equipment on every 1928 Buick.

In deference to the thousands of women who drive Buicks, the Buick engineers have originated a steering wheel which will appeal to the small hand as well as the large. Mr. Reynolds declared yesterday that the listeners in Saturday night will not only hear a magnificent concert, but will hear something of real and lasting value concerning the making of better automobiles.

As a part of this national broadcast, the Buick establishment at the corner of Citrus avenue and Badillo street, Covina, will be open Saturday afternoon and evening, and Sun-

Mrs. Pearson Gives Talk on Customs of African People

Evelyn Utter Pearson, at home on her second furlough from the mission fields of Africa, gave an interesting talk on the native women before the Missionary society of the Christian church last Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Pearson is supported on the mission field by this society.

As is the custom in many savage tribes, the women do all the work. They are bought and sold, a man with many daughters being considered rich. A woman is loyal to her parents, and lives with her husband chiefly to obtain presents for them. They cannot understand our ideas of marital love and their degraded idea of women make it difficult to uplift them.

The missionaries insist that a native Christian choose one wife, and have a school at Bolongo for the children of Christians. The young peoples' class in the Sunday school sits together and promises to eat together in their homes, which is not according to native custom. The missionaries are not burdening the natives with clothes, but are trying to impart enough western customs to make their homes clean, promoting in this way their mental and spiritual growth.

Mrs. Pearson closed her talk by giving several examples of the transformation of the loves of native women.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS PICNIC

The Royal Neighbors district picnic was held in the city park last Sunday. It was an all-day affair, with a basket luncheon at noon. The lodges from Glendale, Pasadena, Monrovia, Azusa, Baldwin Park and Covina had large representations.

Sports were indulged in, with a great deal of fun over the doughnut-eating contest, needle threading and children's races. Many enjoyed the plunge. There were 150 present.

day, as well as Monday, comprising a three-day showing of the new models, which will be on the floor of the display room. The show-rooms will be equipped with radio, and the public is invited to hear the concert.

State to Open Water Hearings on August 9th

Citations for appearance before a session of the state division of water rights have been sent out to a large number of representatives of water companies and individuals in the San Gabriel valley this week, in connection with the question of adjudicating filings on water in the San Gabriel canyon. The first session is to be held on Tuesday, August 9th, at 10 o'clock, in the assembly room of the Exposition building in Exposition park, Los Angeles.

Applicants for priorities in the canyon include the city of Pasadena, Rubio Canyon Land and water association, Las Flores Water company, city of Monrovia, city of Alhambra, Glendora Consolidated Mutual Irrigating company, and cities of Long Beach, Whittier and Compton.

Protestants of these claims include the San Gabriel Valley Protective association and Water Rights association, Southern California Edison company, La Puente Co-operative Water company, and various other irrigating companies and individuals living or owning property along the stream flow of the San Gabriel river from the mountains to the sea.

The hearing relates almost wholly to new filings based on the assumption that additional water will be available in the canyon because of the proposed building of the San Gabriel dam. Pasadena has filed on a theoretical 65,000 acre feet expected to be held behind this dam, and other municipalities are filing for similar domestic water supplies.

It is expected that the first session will be devoted to the filings of maps, plats and specifications of engineers for both applicants and protestants, together with briefs of attorneys, and that the session will then adjourn to convene some time later, after the data has been fully perused by the members of the state body.

The opening of this hearing is declared by many in the valley to be the beginning of a long fight for the adjustment of water priorities in the canyon, and no hazard has been made as to how long the matter may be

Covina Girls Will Go to 'Y' Camp at Jenks Lake

The annual Y. M. C. A. camps have become very popular the last two or three years and, following the Pioneers and Friendly Indians, the girls from the valley will go up to Jenks lake camp Saturday morning, leaving the starting point at the Azusa library at seven o'clock. Registration to date shows between 55 and 60 signed up to go against 32 last summer, and there is every promise of an unusually successful two weeks in the mountains. Miss Ethel Allen, college nurse at Pomona, will have supervision of the health of the girls and also have a "first aid" class each morning, which all of the girls will join. Mrs. Mary Riser Hannington of Glendora will be swimming instructor, with three classes; Mrs. Florence Draper of Monrovia is to have supervision of nature study; Miss Grace Austin of the Covina schools, hand craft; Miss Muriel McKinley of the local school, charge of the camp fire dramas; and Miss Emily Hannington of Glendora, organized athletics; while Clarence Miller and Jennie Goodrich will be general assistants with camp paper, store and library.

The girls will be divided into groups of eight for the tents, with one of the leaders in each tent or bunk house, and there will be the usual friendship rivalry as to the tent winning the camp honors for neatness. Camp inspection will be made each afternoon by the nurse and camp director and mother, Mrs. Mary M. Coman, who is to be with the girls again this year. The Covina girls going are reminded to take plenty of warm blankets, heavy sweater, hiking boots, pocketknife and scissors. The last two items are necessary for the hand craft work, which Miss Austin is planning to be very practical and interesting. Lunch for Saturday should also be taken.

For the first time this year, Mr. MacDonald is planning to use the same system for camp awards—the official "Y" for sweater or jacket and the "Y. M. Rag"—as is used with the boys' camps and the girls are greatly interested in the change. Any needed information concerning details of equipment or camp life can be secured at Mrs. Coman's phone

New Phone Call Plan Speeds Up Local Service

Manager Frank H. Wright of the Home Telephone Company of Covina believes that telephone efficiency is to be increased thirty per cent by a new method of accepting calls. The change in method is in its experimental stages at the present time.

Under the old method, when a subscriber gives a number to the operator she repeats that number as a verification that she has heard it correctly, and the subscriber answers "right." That is the method set forth in the list of instructions in the telephone book.

At the present time the girls have been instructed not to repeat the number, but to say "Thank You," and make the connection. This she will do invariably unless she believes she hasn't heard the number correctly, in which event she will repeat it for verification.

By eliminating the repetition, Manager Wright says that much time and wear and tear on nerves is also eliminated. It has been discovered by the telephone officials that auditions over the company's lines is so clear and distinct it obviates the necessity of repeating numbers, as it is only once in several thousand calls that the operator fails to get the number correctly when clearly spoken by the subscriber.

STOLEN AUTO FOUND IN AZUSA

A car belonging to L. R. Vincent, but bearing the registered name of O. W. Vincent, was stolen Tuesday from its parking place in front of the Golden Orange Groves packing house on Azusa avenue. As the young man went to work at 7 a. m., and the car was not missed until evening, it is not known what time of the day the car was taken. It was found Wednesday morning in Azusa, parked in front of the home of Mr. H. Williams.

It is thought that the car may have been taken by the bandits who killed Officer Matthias of Monrovia early Tuesday morning, as an abandoned car, supposed to have been theirs, was discovered on the Duarte

Nation's Business Satisfactory Says District Agent

That the nation's business is satisfactory, the crop outlook promising and that no reasons exist to question the continuation of prosperity is the consensus of opinion among railroad officials, according to George Wetherby, district passenger agent for the Southern Pacific, who recently returned from San Francisco where he attended a two-day conference of the company's general and district agents.

"With few exceptions, such as in the glass and steel industries," Mr. Wetherby said, "business is in good shape. The automobile industry has a satisfactory volume of business and indications that the Ford plants soon will resume full blast production."

"Building in the east has shown remarkable activity and the number of hotels, business structures and apartment houses under construction is surprising. Stimulated by this activity other lines of business have been able to maintain their normal level of activity."

"Good work accomplished by the Pacific Empire association in broadcasting throughout the east the idea of seeing the entire Pacific coast when visiting the west, was commented on most favorably by the company's eastern agents. From our European agencies we are informed that English and continental travelers are increasingly impressed with the fact that the Pacific coast has more to offer in general attractions, beauty spots and natural wonders than the mountain and seaside resorts they have heretofore frequented. It appears certain that the home and foreign travel trend has now definitely swung to the far west."

"Southern Pacific lines in the south were not damaged to any great extent by the floods, and our service has been continuous. We have been able in consequence to be good neighbors and provide detour service for those railroads in the territory who were less fortunate than ourselves."

"It does not seem likely that the total farm production of the south in such crops as corn and cotton will be greatly reduced as a result of the floods, though of course there will be virtually no crops in the flooded areas."

"The recent opening of the company's new mainlines through Arizona and eastern Oregon have opened thousands of acres of virgin land to settlement and have attracted a great deal of interest to the very considerable opportunities for home-seekers in those two states."

Dinner guests Wednesday evening of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Varney were Mrs. Phillip Leighton, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Leighton, Miss Phyllis Denison, and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Varney.

Mrs. L. G. Daniels will accompany her daughter, Lucile, and a number of other girls to the camp at Jenks lake in the San Bernardino mountains, on Saturday.

Mr. L. H. McNutt and Mr. C. E. Daugherty left Saturday evening on an automobile trip to Indiana, where they will visit for about five weeks.

Miss Fannie Leech and William Leech spent Sunday at Crystal lake, above Coldbrook camp, in the San Gabriel canyon.

Leonard Daniels and Elliott Viney returned Saturday from Jenks lake, where they spent the past two weeks.

Mrs. Bert Everett and two children of Lompoc were guests over the week-end of Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Calhoun.

Mr. and Mrs. Alpha Imbler spent Sunday with Mrs. Clay Jeans.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Damerel went to Glendale Saturday evening to see Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chapman, who left for their home in Providence, Rhode Island, after spending the past several months in Hollywood. Mr. and Mrs. Chapman have been guests at the Damerel home a number of times during their stay in California.

Miss Muriel Sherwood of Fresno, Miss Phyllis Brunjes of Glendora and Mr. William Heth of Azusa were dinner guests Wednesday evening of Mrs. Rosa Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Stowell, who have been spending the greater part of the summer in their cottage at Newport beach, have been spending a few days this week at home.

Mrs. J. H. Sassen of West Center street and her house guests, Mrs. C. E. Payne, and the Misses Velma, Ivy and Arva Payne, and Maybelle Sykes spent Sunday at Catalina.

Mrs. S. A. Stowell entertained the honor students of her Sunday school class of boys to see "The King of Kings" at Grauman's Chinese theater Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. J. A. Hoshaw of Santa Ana is a guest this week of Mrs. J. M. Stanton.

Guests on Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wedgwood were Mr. and Mrs. G. Settle of San Diego.

About thirty golfers of the dental association golf team spent Wednesday in a tournament at the Mountain Meadows country club. Dr. E. V. Rice was a member of the golfers' tournament.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thorkelson were guests at a house party Saturday and Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Mericle in Los Angeles.

A daughter was born July 16th to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Needham at the Covina hospital.

Azusa Theater Project Begins Within 30 Days

H. J. Kidson of Los Angeles has purchased through Voshburg Bros., Inc., a frontage of 60 feet on Azusa avenue, where it is his purpose to erect a motion picture theater. The new structure will have a seating capacity of 700, and is to cost $35,000.

The building will cover the entire ground area of 60 by 140 feet, and work will commence in thirty days, the new owner announces. The owner also announces that the theater has already been leased to the Principal Theaters, Inc., which company has a string of theaters in Southern California. Associated with Mr. Kidson is W. E. Emick of the Emick-Johnson Contracting company of Los Angeles.

Glendora Will Add Width to Foothill Blvd.

Deeds have been secured and a resolution introduced by the city trustees of Glendora for the widening of that portion of the Foothill boulevard passing through that city, according to a statement released this week.

The improvement is a part of a concerted attempt to widen this thoroughfare from Duarte to the east county line. At present the width in Glendora is 60 feet, and the new width will be 80 feet, made possible by the setting back of the curb line on the south side.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Ginkle and children and Paul Stanton spent the week-end at the Van Ginkle cabin in Bonquet canyon. They also entertained a party of Los Angeles friends over Sunday.

Covina Library Annual Report Reveals Growth

Revealing the gradual and healthy growth of the Covina public library, the annual report just released shows that there are 11,593 volumes on hand, and that 543 volumes have been added by purchase during the year. 31 presented as gifts and 40 volumes rebound, a total of accessions of 693 volumes. There have been 108 volumes worn out or lost. There have been 592 new and renewed memberships recorded which, with 732 active members previously registered, gives a total of 1,324 regular borrowers.

There have been 104 magazines and 13 newspapers received regularly, and of these the library subscribes to 70 magazines and five newspapers, the balance being donated. The library has repaired 3,050 books and bound 40 volumes of magazines. The institution has been open 306 days in the year, seven hours per day on all week days, with the exception of holidays. The merchant marine service in San Francisco has received 81 books from friends of the Covina library, for which a warm letter of appreciation has been received.

Disbursements for all purposes amounted to $3,214.40. At the annual meeting of 1926 the balance was $1,240.67, and the institution has received $4,000 from city taxation. The balance at time of the annual meeting of 1927 was $2,032.27. The desk account in receipts for membership, fines, etc., amounted to $445.78, and of this $434.54 has been disbursed for books.

The officers for the coming year are: D. F. Stafford, president; B. S. Millikan, vice-president; Mrs. H. M. Faudler, secretary and librarian. J. D. Fields was re-appointed to serve for three years. The other trustees are J. K. Bashor and Seth I. Colver.

Intermountain Air Ride Told by Guy Adams

Leaving Denver just after lunch on one day and arriving in Covina in time for dinner on the next is the exploit just demonstrated by Guy Adams, well known railroad official, who reached his ranch home here last Saturday.

Mr. Adams went to Denver to attend the annual meeting of the Society of Civil Engineers, presided over by an old associate of other days, J. F. Stevens of Panama canal fame. On getting ready to return he decided on a combination air and rail journey. At Salt Lake City he took the Western Air Express at 11:10 a. m. After reaching Los Angeles he transferred to the Covina, and at the same time, a note was dropped from the plane, asking his family to meet him at the airport in Los Angeles.

Just before landing at Las Vegas the temperature was 65 degrees, and when they landed seven minutes later it was 110 degrees.

The railroad man says it was the most wonderful experience of his life. This air company has carried mail between Salt Lake City and Los Angeles for the past fifteen months and has the most perfect record of any line, Mr. Adams says. The company announced that it will operate a ten-passenger ship on a three-hour schedule between Los Angeles and San Francisco, to start about October first.

Rebekah Officers Are Installed by Deputy President

Covina Rebekah lodge, No. 235, installed its officers for the ensuing six months last night. District Deputy President Phoebe Bowling, the district deputy marshal, eight guards and six past noble grand, all from Azusa, constituted the installing team.

The following officers were placed in office: elective noble grand, Grace Elliott; vice-grand, Ellen McLaughlin; secretary, Alice Burpee; treasurer, Anna Willoughby. Appointive officers: R. S. N. G., Bell Burt; L. S. N. G., Katherine Daniels; warden, Nadia Simonoff; conductor, Martha Libby; chaplain, Ella Parks; musician, Myra Hardwick; R. S. V. G., Mamie Hutchison; L. S. V. G., Margaret Carper; I. G., Emma Knorr; O. G., Earl Coolman. Refreshments were served at the close of the work.

Yoder Family Honors Relatives From Nebraska

A reunion of the Yoder family was held in the city park last Sunday that brought together six brothers and sisters from various parts of Southern California and Nebraska, and a number of nephews and nieces, and their families, numbering about forty in all. The picnic was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. A. Yoder of Omaha, Nebraska, who are making a short visit with relatives here.

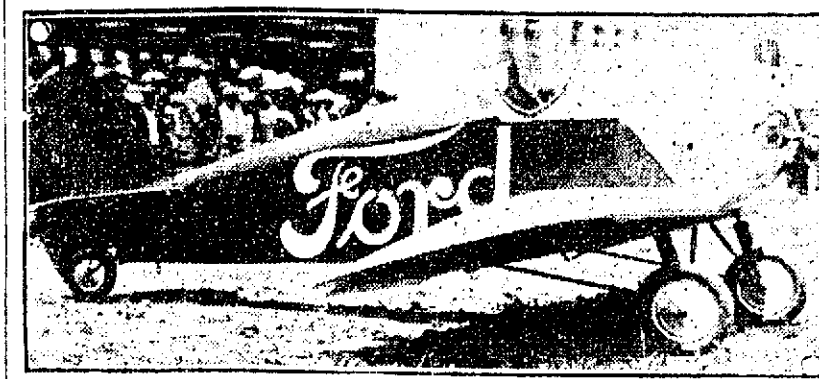

The brothers and sisters were Mr. and Mrs. A. Yoder of Omaha, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Crandall of La Verie, Mr. and Mrs. J. Z. Gilbert of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Yoder of Hollywood, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Yoder of Hemet, and Mrs. Margaret Naffziger of Long Beach.

The younger generation who were present reside in Covina, Tujunga and other cities in Southern California.

Vern Vincent had his automobile stolen from the parkinghouse where he works on Tuesday afternoon. Wednesday morning the car was found on the streets of Azusa.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Walker and family are spending a few days at their cottage at Balboa.

FORD'S NEWEST MODEL AIRPLANE

A single-seater Ford monoplane which made its appearance for the first time when it was shown at the Ford airport, near Detroit, at the start of the reliability tour.

Mrs. Ronald Taylor and Miss Minnet Sherman were guests several days this week of their mother, Mrs. D. C. Sherman, in Long Beach. On Tuesday the three ladies made a trip up Mt. Lowe. Miss Sherman left Thursday evening to return to her home in Portland.

Misses Elsie and Phoebe Hinkley of Chicago were guests over the week-end of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Stowell in their cottage at Newport. Mrs. J. K. Boshore, Misses Crete and Lorraine Boshore and Miss Yula Bryant spent Saturday and Sunday at Catalina.

The Vacation Habit—

The vacation habit has grown upon us. In the past, only the rich and prosperous had vacations. The humble workers, even those who had control of their own time, did not with any regularity spend a few weeks annually in recreation. Vacations were regarded as a luxury that were not especially needed, but enjoyable and restful for the ones who could afford to indulge in them.

A different view of vacations now prevails. Physicians tell us that a change of scene and occupation, a relief of the tenseness of brain and muscle in the regular routine of life, is needed by every one.

And so, with the physicians' endorsement, we have not been slow in recent years to acquire the vacation habit. Business institutions provide regular vacation periods for their employees, as is also done by city and county officials for their workers, and in every walk of life the vacation period is now a fixed institution.

To most of us who live a strenuous life in which every minute must be made to count on some task or endeavor, to lay aside all our business affairs and spend a week or two in play or recreation, is a relief indeed. No doubt it meets a real need of the physical and mental.

We are admonished, however, and experience has taught us that we can spend a strenuous vacation and come back in an exhausted and depleted condition, less fit to carry on our vocation than ever, unless we use our common sense here as in everything else. The man of slight physique who attempts to climb mountains, or goes on long exhausting hikes, or drives his car long distances daily, or even plays golf or tennis or rows or swims to the point of exhaustion, will not get much good out of his vacation period.

Restful occupation, a change of scene, loafing, driving not for the sake of miles accomplished but for pleasure and to some attractive goal, these should be vacation aims. We need to get away from the nervous, hurried, artificial life, to the quiet and peace that God shows us in nature all about us.

Then we are told that our vacation should mean a complete change. If we live in the valleys, we should seek the mountains. If we dwell by the seashore, we should rest in the interior with different conditions. City people need to get into the wide open spaces of the country and possibly some country folks might profit by a stay in the city for a short time. The parks, the museums, the great buildings, the splendid accomplishments of city dwellers, are well worth inspection.

Then in our great state and in the other states of the Pacific coast we have remarkable scenic attractions that tourists come across the continent to see. One of our railroads is advertised as the "Road of a Thousand Wonders," and any one who has spent much time in travel throughout our coastal plains and mountains does not doubt the truth of the slogan. Switzerland has not the mountain peaks nor the lakes of our High Sierras. There are no Yosemite, no Catalina Islands and Marine gardens, no Sequoia parks or "big trees," no Redwood forests, no Death Valleys, or comparable scenic wonders elsewhere.

These are our distinctive scenic assets, and are ours to enjoy when vacation days lure us away from our daily tasks.—La Verne Leader.

The Colorado River Fight—

One of the most reasonable suggestions for the settlement of the Colorado river controversy, that we have heard lately comes from Harold Baxter, formerly special assistant to the United States attorney general.

Mr. Baxter would take the matter entirely out of the hands of the politicians and through an action brought before the United States supreme court, have the rights of the various states determined and settled once and for all time. Commenting on such action, he says:

"More than two years ago, I advocated the wisdom of such a course of procedure.

"Opposition to the institution of such a water rights suit came from many quarters and invariably those opposed expressed themselves as fearful of long-drawn-out litigation, whereas the principal reason for such opposition was a wish to obtain some special privilege or right for some person, persons or state. This opposition was sufficient to discourage both the department of the interior and the department of justice from any attempt to smooth out the Colorado river problems by resort to the courts. The universal excuse that such an adjudication would take too much time is not justified by the results of other adjudication suits, and seems to be in error, judging by the time that is being wasted by the opponents to the Boulder canyon development plans.

"There seems to me then to be no just reason why such a suit should not have been filed, and all the arguments, pro and con, have brought out no additional reason why such an adjudication suit should not be filed now. In fact, the very people who have opposed the filing of such a suit have acted, as a class, the threat that they would carry to the United States supreme court the question of the right of the federal government to construct any dam at Boulder canyon. In my opinion, until such a suit is filed and determined it will be impossible to get any agreement between either the seven states or the grouped basin states. This seems obvious, for the reason that politics and selfish interests are so well injected into the fight between the proponents and opponents of any project to impound the waters of the Colorado river for flood control, irrigation or water power."—California Cultivator.

The Battle in the Cornfields—

Citrus growers are well aware that the very life of the groves depends on insect control. While the fight has been unending and expensive, it nevertheless has resulted in control, which is more than can be said as yet of the battle against the corn borer in the middle west of the United States and Canada.

The federal government has hundreds of men in the field, thousands of dollars a day is being spent for material and equipment in a fight that has a battle line longer than that of the Battle of the Argonne. Last year many hundreds of acres of corn were burned to the ground in this attempt to stop the borer's progress, which is estimated as an advance across the corn belt of about five miles a year. Only total incineration, or the subjection of heat of more than 120 degrees Fahrenheit kills the borer. Thus far chemicals and parasites have been unavailing, although the government is experimenting. Great areas have been reduced to ten per cent of a normal corn crop. The corn borer has caused the price of hogs and cattle to soar, as most of the profit from corn comes from turning it into meat. The fight has only begun.

We have the black scale always with us, but the government of the United States, many years ago, saved the citrus industry from annihilation, and no doubt science and patience will do the same thing for the corn growers of the middle west. Meantime, they have our sympathy and interest. The age-long fight of man against insects has brought everyone into the ranks in every country since civilization began. The loss of a crop anywhere in the world adversely affects all of us.

PHYSICAL APPEARANCE OF CURRENCY TO BE CHANGED

That more or less familiar physical appearance of Uncle Sam's paper money is due for the most radical change that has been made since Hamilton set up the currency system, Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, having ordered a revised program in the issuing of currency which calls for new bills at two-thirds the present size and of a slightly different design.

The present size of the currency is 7 7/16 by 3 1/8 inches, while the new program calls for a bill 6 1/8 by 2 5/8 inches.

The new money will not be ready for circulation until next summer, due to the fact that money manufacture for the government is a complicated process.

One dollar bills make up more than half of the bulk of our paper currency, and bills of this denomination will be the first to appear in the reduced size. Next the $20 bills will be produced. The new money will work up and down from them. It will take two or three years to place all the denominations, revised, in circulation.

All the denominations are to be re-designed in such a manner as to bring a degree of order that now is lacking. The present pictures on the bills got there quite by accident. On the money there are many pictures of people unknown to the public. The same picture may appear on a $1 bill and on a $20 bill. This leads to confusion. The new program contemplates that the pictures of presidents only shall be used.

Each picture shall become identified with a bill of a certain denomination. The public will learn to know its money by the pictures on it. It has been decided that the picture of Washington is to appear on all $1 bills and that of Lincoln on the $5 bills. Just which pictures will appear on bills of other denominations is not yet known.

Treasury experts find that, roughly, there are always about a billion bills in circulation. On the average, they last about one year before they wear out and have to be replaced.

A billion bills would weigh about 1,500 tons. With 300 working days in a year, the bureau of engraving and printing must turn out about five tons of paper money every day. This money is promptly put up in packages and shipped to banks. These packages are about as big as a dime's worth of ice, weigh twelve pounds, and contain 4,000 bills.

Half of the currency that goes out is $1 bills; some 800 tons of them are at present distributed each year. The weight of the $1 bills will be cut by a third, bringing the yearly total down to about 538 tons.

TEN-YEAR-OLD BOY IS RUN OVER BY TRUCK

Raphael Garcia, a ten-year-old lad living in Puente, met his death Tuesday by being run over by a truck owned by the Cement Pipe company. It is thought that the child, who was three miles from his home, must have been asleep in the grass, as he was not observed by the truck driver, and was instantly killed.

An inquest was held at Custer and Christiansen's chapel Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Cook and children and Mrs. Addie Stephens were guests at tea Sunday afternoon of Admiral George W. Lawrence on the steamship "Nevada." Admiral Lawrence and Mrs. Stephens are old time friends.

Mrs. L. K. Ashbaugh, who has been employed by the Citizen for some time, had the misfortune to fall while at the office on Wednesday and broke several bones in her body and fractured three ribs. She is at the Covina hospital.

Mission Play Tickets Half Price For Readers

The Covina Argus has secured a very liberal arrangement for its readers with the management of the new Mission Playhouse at Old San Gabriel during the summer session of John Steven McGroarty's sixteen years old world-famous California drama.

Readers of the Covina Argus may see this ever popular production in its new home at half the regular price during the month of July by presenting the special Identification Card coupon printed below.

This first run of the Mission Play in its new and permanent home has been marked by the enthusiastic attendance of many who have seen it numerous times in the old wooden structure which housed it since the beginning. All seem anxious to see the play in its new atmosphere and with new opportunities. The story of how California began which it tells seems every day as fresh and as captivating as each day's setting sun.

Heretofore the play ran only during the winter season, but this time it is being prolonged into the summer season in order to accommodate the thousands of residents and visitors who wish to catch some of the added glamour which has attached itself to the epic with the ushering in of another era in its record-breaking history.

Clip the coupon for this privilege.

Early Days in Covina

TEN YEARS AGO
Fireman guests of garage owner. Banquet crowds two hours with pleasure last night when Elmer G. Hotchkiss "comes back" for a good turn done him. This was a pleasant aftermath to the recent Methodist church fire. While the church was burning, the Reliable garage next door was in great danger and saved only by the work of the firemen.
"Nearer My God to Thee," life's closing hymn for the humble and the high, and requested by General Harrison Gray Otis, was sung by Madame Ellen Beach Yaw at the funeral of the Times editor Wednesday. The celebrated concert singer gave it a touch of sweetness and solemnity that was a fitting close to an impressive ceremony.
F. H. Sowle, who has been spending a week at Catalina, accompanied by his wife and daughter, is a wizard as a fisherman. Reports brought back show that he caught 154 pounds of albacore in one day. Fishing with him were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Danerel and Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips.
Lemon situation is satisfactory. High prices obtain in east owing to sweltering heat and lack of foreign competition. 475 cars now in storage. The average received by the Exchange for lemons since the beginning of the present season in November of last year is $2.88 per box. The orange situation is less satisfactory. There are few oranges being shipped.
Long distance girl becomes bride. Miss Caroline Herbert and Mr. Thos. Beni were quietly married in Los Angeles last Saturday evening.
The tickets for the moonlight fete, planned and participated in by Madame Ellen Beach Yaw, are selling in splendid fashion this week. It will be held in the gardens of the Ben F. Thorpe residence Saturday evening, for the benefit of the Lark Ellen Home for Newsboys.
Mrs. C. W. Conlan entertained in honor of the tenth birthday of Alfred Cue on Monday with a plunge party at Ganesha park.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Charles Olmstead, a lad of 13 years, was the successful contestant in the W. C. T. U. Demorest contest held in Reed hall last Friday evening. The prize was a handsome silver medal.
The Covina McKinley club held a rousing meeting in Independence hall on Tuesday evening. The attendance exceeded 175 and 25 new members were added to the club's roll of active members.
The Southern Pacific will sell round trip tickets to San Francisco August 8th for $16.40, good returning until September 1st.
Mrs. Caroline Amos, formerly a teacher in the Covina schools, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Chesbro. She expects to remain during the summer vacation.
J. C. Clutterbuck, of the firm of Matthews and Clutterbuck, has been confined to his bed with an attack of rheumatic gout.
Rev. J. S. Matthews is among the sufferers from the recent earthquake in Santa Barbara, his residence being partially destroyed.
Mrs. J. W. Cowles, who has for some time been the guest of her niece, Mrs. A. M. Seeley, suffered an attack of apoplexy last week. Her condition is so much improved that her physicians state she is on the road to recovery.
E. G. Clapp, Dr. William Thorne and W. M. Griswold have this week had that portion of Second street facing their property oil. The expense is comparatively light when everyone will do his share. Let us all pull together and kill the dust devil.
E. P. Warner and wife will leave Monday in company with Rev. and Mrs. E. J. Inwood of Los Angeles on a camping trip to Bear valley. They will be absent one month.
Dr. G. D. Jennings and family have moved into their newly acquired home on the corner of San Bernardino road and Azusa avenue.

Mountain Fire Crews Organize For Emergency

Further perfection of a fire fighting organization was in process this week throughout the valley, under the direction of C. E. Groninger of Glendora, representing the Angelus Forest Protective association.
A system by which every community will be ready immediately to provide its quota of fire fighters, with key men and their telephone numbers known to the organization has been worked out. A fire in the watershed above the east end of the San Gabriel valley will be fought by crews of men supplied by the various communities.
Warnings against entering the forest reserve without a shovel and ax were sent out through automobile associations. Every camper must be provided with these utensils, now made necessary by state law.
The fire this week in Lone Pine canyon in the Angeles reserve was conquered after a desperate fight on one of the hottest days in the year, county fire warden reported. It had been burning since last Saturday, and had threatened to devastate Big Pine camp, the county's recreation ground near the San Bernardino county line.
One of the biggest grass fires in years swept through the San Gabriel canyon in the Puente hills Monday and Tuesday night, burning over many hundreds of acres, but without material damage, it was reported.

Arrowhead Scenes Feature of Films at Covina Theater

"The Callahans and the Murphys," a comedy with a vein of shrewd wisdom, based on a book written by Kathleen Norris, comes to the Covina theater tonight and tomorrow night, featuring Marie Dressler and Sally O'Neil.
"Closed dates," with young John Harron featured, is the drama offered for Sunday and Monday nights.
Tuesday and Wednesday of next week brings the thrilling "Overland Stage," filled with daring horsemanship and deeds of valor from the pages of early western history.
Covina sojourners in the mountains will no doubt derive pleasure from the beautiful scenes taken in and around Lake Arrowhead that are the scenic settings for the film, "Ladies Beware," in which George O'Hara is featured. This film has been called one of the most beautiful from the artistic out-of-door standpoint of any ever filmed in the state, and carries with it a high entertainment appeal.

Avocado Growers Change Name of Organization

"Avocado" was relegated to the dead languages by court decree on Wednesday as far as the co-operative marketing organization which controls the bulk of that crop is concerned. The petition of the California Avocado Growers Exchange was granted by Judge Franklin A. Griffith during the afternoon session of the superior court of Los Angeles county and a decree signed which changes the legal name of the marketing organization to Calavo Growers of California.
Official action by the grower members of the co-operative was taken at the annual meeting of the organization on May 20. The proposed change was presented to that meeting by George B. Hodgkin, manager of the co-operative. Hodgkin outlined the trend in modern distribution for the producer of a commodity to establish his trade name as the generic name of the product in order to insure getting the full benefit of his advertising expenditures.
The proposed change was unanimously approved by the members and later in the same day officially passed by the newly elected board of directors of the organization. The decree granted Wednesday is the final step in the legal process which is necessary to effect such a change under the laws of California. John W. Hart of Los Angeles is legal counsel for the Calavo growers.
The change marks a new forward step in the co-operative marketing of California fruits. The successful establishment of a trade name as the generic name of a product is an old story among manufactured commodities such as kodak, aspirin, vaseline. It is a new venture in agricultural marketing and it is being undertaken by California's newest horticultural industry.

WILL VISIT YOSEMITE
Mrs. Mary R. Forbes and Miss Mary Temple will leave tomorrow for a trip up the coast and a visit to Yosemite, returning on the 30th. They will drive up to Camp Del Monte, near Monterey, and get the last north of the citizens' military training camp. Mrs. Forbes' office will be closed until August 1st.

Fourteen Summer Health Schools Open in County

Announcement of the opening of 14 summer health schools in county districts under the auspices of the Los Angeles County Public Health association was made by Dr. Elizabeth Saphro at a luncheon given in honor of Prof. Chas. E. A. Winslow, lauder professor Yale Medical school. Present were members of the board of directors of the association and advisory committee of the county health medical staff.
The summer health schools are to be the chief objective of this year's reventive program of the Los Angeles County Public Health association, made possible through the Christmas seal sale in county territory. Dr. Saphro stated.
Of 290 children cared for in the summer schools last year, and re-examined eight months later, more than 90 per cent were found to have been permanently benefited, the child hygiene director averred. This year six new health schools have been added to the list. They are Glendale, Redondo, El Monte, Bellflower, and a second school at Compton and another for pre-school age children at Whittier. Summer health schools will be again conducted at Monrovia, Sierra Madre, Santa Monica, Tujunga, San Gabriel, Catalina, Whittier, and Compton.
The children eligible for the summer health schools are those screened out by the school nurse at the close of the public schools as in need of "reconditioning." Regular rest periods, food prepared by a dietitian and instruction in proper health habits is the curriculum of the summer health school.
"Experience of the past two years of the summer health school," said Dr. Saphro, "and re-examination of the children ten months later, has shown us conclusively that it is a practical, economical and efficient method of bringing children back to health, and for the maintenance of health when once obtained. The success of the summer health school is largely due to the fact that the mother is taken into the confidence of the worker and regular consultation held with her in regard to physical condition and health habits of her own particular child."
"We urgently need at least 60 more summer health schools which we could operate to advantage in bringing back to normalcy the 10 per cent of below-par children in the county," Dr. Saphro emphasized.

Meeting Held to Discuss Pest Control Problem

A joint meeting of the citrus growers' department of the Farm Bureau and the Agricultural Extension Service was held Tuesday evening in the auditorium of the grammar school to discuss the problem of the black scale and pest control.
The principal speakers of the evening were H. J. Ryan, county horticultural inspector; R. J. Woglum of the California Fruit Growers Exchange, and M. V. Rounds, farm advisor of the Farm Bureau.
The methods of pest control were discussed, such as fumigating and spraying. Comparisons of the different kinds of spraying materials and their effectiveness were made. The very best method of pest control was considered as early fumigation, with a later application of spray. Five different materials were discussed, as shown by careful checking. Lime-sulphur and Triumph oil was considered one of the best methods that had been used in this district. The Volck, Peerless, Trionna and SOS were also freely discussed. The Volck contains a slightly heavier oil than some of the others. The Trionna received favorable mention, also the effectiveness of SOS.
The Peerless, manufactured in Covina, was considered a good insecticide, and stood among the first when freedom from injury was considered. Mr. Woglum brought out the fact that the first consideration should be safety to the tree and fruit.
It was not found advisable to make two applications of an oil spray in one season.
The meeting was well attended and should be helpful to the growers in the care of their groves for the coming season.

Now I know why women are so fond of Chandler

Because, in the first place, the new Royal Eights and new Sixes by Chandler are simply magnificent—enriched with exquisite little appurtenances and niceties dear to the woman who loves true luxury.

Because Chandler is neither too light nor too heavy—steers easily, shifts easily, parks easily, stops easily.

Because Chandler is so powerful it can be throttled down to a mere crawl in high gear, and go over the top of fearfully steep hills in high gear.

Because a Chandler automatically lubricates itself from end to end the moment you press your foot on a plunger.

Because Chandler is so fairly and reasonably priced—the Sixes at $995 to $1895, the Royal Eights at $2195 to $2295 (f.o.b. Factory). Just see them.

Deplores Tactics of Flood Control Obstructionists

Under the heading, "Stop Obstructing the San Gabriel Dam," the illustrated Daily News of Los Angeles, had the following to say editorially on Saturday, July 16:

It is time to put an end to the bickering over the San Gabriel dam project. Los Angeles county taxpayers outside the area to be benefited directly, who, after all, will pay 94.7 per cent of the cost, are sick and tired of it; and with good reason.

In the dispute over the relative merits of a 385-foot dam storing 180,000 acre feet, and a 435-foot dam storing 240,000 acre feet, these points should be borne in mind:

First—That when the people of the county voted bonds for the dam they had in mind chiefly flood control, and that flood control is the primary purpose of the project.

Second—That for flood control purposes a 385-foot dam is entirely adequate and—

Third—That a 385-foot dam will cost many millions of dollars less than a 435-foot dam.

The interests which have been protesting to the board of supervisors the last few days against the proposed lower dam are identical with those behind the original Reagan plan for the higher dam, which plan was rejected by the board upon the advice of expert engineers, following an investigation initiated by taxpayers. These interests are not competent to give unprejudiced testimony and advice.

The advisory board of eminent engineers, with no chestnuts to pull out of the fire for anyone, declared that the board had been suffering from poor engineering advice. A 385-foot dam will be adequate, they held, and will cost far less than the $31,000,000 which would be required to build a 435-foot dam.

If a 435-foot dam would be sufficient to conserve all the San Gabriel runoff, or enough of it to give a cheap and dependable supply during years of drought, its value might be conceded. But it would not be sufficient.

Records by the United States geological survey of the flow of the San Gabriel river mean runoff at the mouth of the canyon for the 31-year period, 1895-1925, is 121,400 acre feet. Increasing the supply up to the long term mean of 121,000 acre feet per season during the period succeeding 1890, experts have found, would have required carrying water over from that season until 1904, or for 14 years.

A study of the actual stream flow records shows that if all the water were stored during wet years for use during dry years a reservoir capacity five or six times the annual discharge of 121,400 acre feet, or a storage capacity of 675,000 acre feet would be necessary.

As a matter of fact, there is no reservoir site in the San Gabriel canyon that can hold more than one-half of 675,000 acre feet, even though the county were willing to stand the tremendous expense of its construction.

There is still another reason. It would not be practical to try to impound all the San Gabriel river runoff. Loss by evaporation over long periods is great. The consulting engineers estimated that, because of evaporation, even a 675,000 acre feet reservoir would yield only a net annual supply of 75,000 acre feet of water.

When the San Gabriel dam problem was submitted to the consulting board of engineers, it was agreed that the county should abide by its recommendations. The board, acting in good faith on the findings of these engineers, prepared specifications for a 385-foot dam and is endeavoring to let the contract upon bids submitted in accordance with that plan. It should be supported by the taxpayers.

As for the San Gabriel valley interests fighting the present plan, they should realize that if they continue their tactics of obstruction the valley may find itself confronted with great difficulties in the matter of flood control and water conservation.

Young Trout to Flourish Above Flood Barrier

Holding the waters of the San Gabriel river behind a great dam at the forks will furnish worth while by-products other than flood control and conservation, it was revealed this week, when the state fish hatchery began the distribution of 50,000 baby trout up the north fork, and will later stock the east and west forks at seasonable times.

The young fish come from the hatchery at Big Bear lake. With the promise of a retention of water behind the dam, which will cause a back flow into all canyons and forks, the hatchery experts foresee an excellent opportunity for the propagation of fish of the game variety. The drawback to the extensive stocking of Southern California streams has always been the loss of the stock to a large extent during the periods of low water. It is thought that a fishing area of a permanent nature can be made in the upper San Gabriel canyons with the coming of changed conditions brought about by the dam.

Other trout stocks are being distributed in the Big and Little Dalton canyons, and supervision will be made by the California Fish and Game commission.

Mrs. Annie L. Roberts and her house guest, Kathryn Burns, theatrical producer of Los Angeles, motored to the Los Serranos country club Saturday evening, where a beautiful dinner dance was given by the Credit Men's association. The spectacular revenue was staged by Mr. Robert Cannon of Covina, who is now the associate of Miss Burns.

Orange County Fair to Feature Indian Motif

Helen Pursley of Santa Ana felt like singing "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More," just to peeve Noh-Och Yum Chae, the great rain god of the ancient Mayan Indian tribes, when she learned that one of his minute effigies is to help supply part of the Indian motif for the Orange county fair, north of Santa Ana, September 5 to 10.

No wonder Helen was "all burned up" at Noh-Och Yum Chae. He was the god to whom thousands of the fairest maidens of the land were sacrificed before irrigation farming became popular.

OLD IDOL IN COUNTY FAIR

HELEN PURSLEY

Noh-Och Yum Chae, effigy of Mayan rain god in hands of Helen Pursley, will meet modern irrigation farmers at the Orange county fair.

Other old-time, hard-boiled Indian gods and sundry relics will renew acquaintance at the Orange county fair, and possibly some of the modern-day Indians, who are to be brought to the fair grounds from various reservations, will gaze upon these ancient idols for the first time in their lives.

The Indian motif is held in and around Orange county as a considerable attraction, and also in strict keeping with the old west, a rodeo with 150 crack riding stunters and 100 head of wild Mexican cattle will serve to keep things lively. As additional attractions, a sham battle, horse show and special exhibits are programmed.

HOW TO USE WALL PAPER

It is no longer the vogue to entirely cover your walls with paper. The modern way is to form panels or partly cover the wall with an artistic design which blends in with the original wall finish. We shall be pleased to show you the new wall paper designs and suggest a mode of treatment that will produce the most pleasing results.

TRANSMISSION OF POWER BY RADIO NOT PRACTICAL

The transmission of substantial amounts of power to considerable distances by radio is ridiculous, according to Dr. J. H. Dellinger of the bureau of standards. "It would be possible to build a radio station to transmit enough power to heat a house several miles away, but it would be the most inefficient thing in the world, and not even the wealth of Henry Ford would suffice to pay for the enormous transmitting station that would be required," said Dr. Dellinger.

"Similarly, it is sometimes asked whether radio photography and television are to be materially advanced through directive radio transmission. Here again the answer is essentially negative. Both radio picture transmission and television are thoroughly practical possibilities, but they are adapted essentially to broadcasting rather than to point-to-point transmission by radio.

"It will unquestionably remain true for a long time to come that the transmission of power or of photographs and vision from one point to another definitely chosen point can be best carried on by the aid of conducting wires and not by radio. Another application of radio, the remote control of distant objects, machinery and ships, will, on the other hand, be somewhat facilitated through the use of directive radio transmission."

INTEREST

The people of a few hundred years ago resisted the introduction of the interest system because they believed it would swamp the world, destroy it. They regarded it as a viewpoint strange to people today, because we do not question the logical end of our practices.

Take the question as it relates to the international debts. Here are some of the figures which indicate the weight of the interest burden laid upon six countries before their debts with the United States can be settled:

Poland owes $178,560,000. Add $257,127,550 for interest.
Belgium owes $417,780,000. Add $310,050,500 for interest.
Great Britain owes $4,000,000,000. Add $6,505,965,000 for interest.
And so on down the list. Little countries like Finland owing $9,000,000, but being charged an additional $12,695,055 for interest.
Lithuania paying $8,501,940 interest on a debt of $5,039,000. Hungary with a debt of $1,939,000 being charged $2,754,240.
There is a colossal interest bill against only six nations for more than seven billions of dollars.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Heath and a party of twelve Los Angeles friends picnicked in the city park Sunday evening.

Let the Little Wan-Tads do it.

WHAT HAS CIRCULATION TO DO WITH ADVERTISING?

Here's the answer to the question—

WHY—do stores display their goods in the windows instead of merely displaying them inside?

BECAUSE—more people pass outside the stores than inside.

Circulation

WHY—does a store on Citrus avenue command a higher rent than one in the residence section?

BECAUSE—more people pass Citrus avenue than they do any named residential section.

Circulation

WHY—does an advertisement in the Covina Argus bring better results?

BECAUSE—it is a newspaper that is read with interest.

Circulation

IN ORDER—to get results your advertisement must be READ.

The more people who read it the more chances it has to get results.

THEREFORE—when you advertise your business it is "good business" to use the Covina Argus.

IT IS READ

How Do You Feel?

"Bully," said the Steak.
"Fank," said the Firecracker.
"Botton," said the Apple.
"Fit," said the Tailor.
"Corkin'," said the Bottle.
"Fine," said the Judge.
"First-rate," said the Postmaster.
"Great," said the Coal.
"Grand," said the Piano.
"Ripping," said the Trousers.
"All done up," said the Shirt.

HORSE CHEAPEST POWER

It has been said that horses eat when they are idle, but according to John O. Williams, in charge of horse and mule investigations, U. S. department of agriculture, it may also be said that "they do not eat while they work." Surveys made by the department show that horses and mules furnish the cheapest power for most "drawbar" operations on the farm.
